Project Details

This steel partition project was completed by aci as part of a larger project being completed for JDGE, their new office fit-out.

We were able to design, supply and install this steel partitioning system to add a more comfortable working environment into their warehouse space. Electrical works in the ceiling, including lighting installations, were also completed as part of the project.

Customer Comment

We found ACI through a recommendation from the Pendragon Motor Group, and we were very pleased that we did.

The move to our new purpose-build HQ was a big one for JDGE and a step change in our business from our old and very tired unit. Top marks for ACI, we enjoyed the process and the end result speaks for himself.
